Wild Edible Plant Foray The Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge, located at 1371 Wildlife Drive in Springville, will hold a brand new Refuge Discovery Series program called “Wild Edible Plant Foray” at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 31st. People are always using their senses to experience nature and in this brand new Refuge Discovery Series Program, the Refuge is inviting everyone to come taste what nature has to offer in this “Wild Edible Plant Foray”. The Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge is excited to welcome back local foraging expert Jonathan Lodge. Beginning at 1 p.m. at the Refuge Visitor Center participants will learn about a few wild plants that are found locally that are okay to eat. From seeds to leaves, stems to fruits, you can learn what is edible...and what is not at this program. As always, Jonathan will bring an array of examples for show and tell. You might even get to sample a few of them! However, this is a discovery class only as foraging is not allowed on the refuge. The Refuge Discovery Series was created by the Friends of Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge to help the public enjoy and interact with the refuge and its wildlife. Each considered a good family activity, the series presents different wildlife related topics and guest speakers to help the public connect with nature. Hosting the program at the Refuge Visitor Center can be fun trip for families as our participants typically come early or stay to enjoy our new exhibits. The Refuge Visitor Center is open Monday – Saturday from 8:00-4:00

Quilting Block Challenge The Krider Performing Arts Center and First United Methodist Ladies Quilting Circle are teaming up to participate in the National Quilt Museum in Paducah’s School Block Challenge. The Challenge is held each year and students receive 3 challenge fabrics and design an 18” x 18” quilt block which must include those fabrics. There are prizes in different age categories and the selected quilt blocks go on exhibit at the National Quilt Museum later this winter. They need 4 more young quilters from grades 6-12 to compete. The FUMC quilting group will help participants design and create their quilt blocks. There is no charge to participate. Quilting happens on Mondays, beginning

September 9th and will continue until your quilt block is finished. It will be submitted to the Museum in November. Young Quilters need to arrive at FUMC between 3 and 4pm Mondays and spend between 1 and 1.5 hours each Monday on your quilt until its finished. For more information contact FUMC or KPAC or visit the following link at quiltmuseum.org/education/contests
