| Three change in the air today when your focus naturally shifts from acquiring more things toward taking better care of what you already own. It's easy to get swept away by the desire to fill your bureau drawers, closets and cupboards. But when those are stuffed to the breaking point, you might find yourself wondering what you're going to do with all of this excess. The Taurus Full Moon casts its light in your 2nd House of Possessions today, reminding you that less really is more. You will know what you need to keep and what you can toss when you realize your values with your heart. | Don't shy away from the people, places, and life experiences that most pique your interest today. The Taurus Full Moon lights up your 1st House of Identity, inspiring confidence to consistently flow from a deep interior well. Good energy multiplies itself, so the more of it that you generate, the bigger your personal storehouse of positive vibes grows. When what you are building contains components like kindness, compassion, and nourishment, its made of indestructible stuff. Who you are is revealed by what you do. | Be mindful of the simple choices you make today. Little things like which coffee shop to visit or who to text may seem of only slight consequence on the surface, but on a deeper level can reflect the course your intuition is urging you to take now. Feelings, hunches, and gut reactions matter a lot while the Full Moon is shining in your 12th House of Invisible Dimensions. Honor your psychic musings and they'll be strong when needed. Some amazing things can happen when your innermost guidance system is tuned to its highest frequency. Talent needs practice to be a skill. | If a once-exciting project has lately become energy sapping, it's time to adopt a different approach. The right tactics should build enthusiasm, rather than drain it. The bottom line is you might be trying to do something solo that's ideally a job for two or more. The Full Moon in your 11th House of Group Participation amplifies the urge to join up with others who are aiming for the same goal. A clever collaboration allows you to do more than you can on your own. Michael Jordan said, Talent wins games. But teamwork and intelligence win championships. | As much as you might love to run off in search of glory today, the more productive strategy is to let recognition come to you instead. By concentrating on doing the very best job you can, your aura naturally emits an invisible but potent radiance of success. Your quiet authority is a bona fide positive-attention magnet. The Full Moon highlights your 10th House of Public Image, prompting others to sit up and take notice of your star power. Accept compliments graciously. A humble heart is a happy heart. | You're often aware of a better way of doing things than the one dictated by the powers that be, and you expect your opinion to be heard. However, you might need to accept the current situation today, if there's no room for debate or your job security is on the line. Let the pragmatic side of your nature take the lead while the sensible Taurus Full Moon brightens your 9th House of Expansion. If a decision vent up to you, shake it off and make the most of things the way they are now. Slow progress is better than no progress at all. |

| Prepare to seize the moment if the cosmos unexpectedly offers up a chance for a welcome do-over today. A sudden turn of events can jumpstart an entirely new level of energetic momentum for a project or bring fresh life to communications stuck at an impasse. The Taurus Full Moon occurs in your 8th House of Regeneration, delivering a second chance or a second wind that could be just what's needed to perk things up. There's something magically potent about try, try again. Your persistence adds to your charm. | Work, art, or a hobby is powerful motivating now, especially if you're trying to get romantic confusion off your mind. Or, conversely, it could be precisely because you're looking for love that you gravitate toward where your secret crush or sweetheart is most likely to be found. With the Taurus Full Moon spotlighting your 7th House of Relationships, you're more interested in the quality of companionship than you are in what you're attempting to achieve on a practical level today. In both ways, keep it real. Your passion is fuel for action. | As eager as you are to assert your independence today, you're inclined to do so via old and familiar ways. You're so good at your performance that its only natural to want to demonstrate your prowess in action. Special confidence can be gained while the Full Moon is visiting your 6th House of Daily Routine. Ace your responsibilities, be dependable, and demonstrate your competence. Whether the pond is large or small, when you play your role to the hilt, you're a big fish. | There can be no coaxing you out of a shell if you're not in one to begin with. Those that assume you're timid because you are quiet or reserved are wildly mistaken. The Full Moon magnifies your 5th House of Self-Expression, reinforcing your cautious, conservative qualities in ways that serve you well today. Listen to your heart and be true to yourself. Actor James McAvoy said, I take a lot of pride in being myself. Im comfortable with who I am. You've got many reasons to feel good in your own skin, too. | Your instincts urge an occasional break from conventional norms today, as long as you don't harm anyone or break any laws. Its all innocent fun. Sing from the heart. Dance like no ones watching. Wear the purple hat with the crazy flower on it. Its the experience of a deep connection with your life force that matters most while the Full Moon settles in your 4th House of Security. Home is a nest. Family, friends, and pets offer safe harbor. Let whatever makes you feel happy be a healthy, identity-affirming anchor. You're lovable exactly as you are. | Your concentration is epic today. Once your mind is set, it is fixed. Daydreams, gossip, sports, and all other typical diversions can breeze right by without latching hold. The earthy Taurus Full Moon grounds your 3rd House of Distractions, building an effective barrier against random thoughts and procrastination that might otherwise slow progress. Finish paperwork, school assignments, business proposals, or whatever else is on your desk. Your thinking cap is on and optimally operational. Focus ensures success. |

EXTEND THE LIFE OF YOUR OUTBOARD ENGINE WITH THESE STORAGE TIPS

(NewsUSA) - As summer winds down, every boat owner clings to those last few warm days to take his or her boat out on the water with family and friends. Unfortunately, summer doesn't last forever and as the sun sets on another boat season, it is time to start thinking about how to store your boat and outboard engine for those off-season months.

Proper off-season storage protects critical internal components from corrosive gummy deposits from unbound ethanol, which can damage your engine, fuel tanks and fuel system components. Proper winterization also helps to protect against the freezing of critical engine components. If left untreated, damage from corrosion, broken parts, and general repairs could cost you thousands of dollars as well as time on the water.

So, as you prepare for off-season storage, follow these easy winterization steps to ensure your outboard engine is in tip-top shape for next season:

1. Flush out the engine with fresh water. Doing so will flush out excess salt, dirt, sand, and other contaminants, and prevent blockage and corrosion of critical cooling system components.

2. Add fuel stabilizers. Pour quality fuel stabilizers into the gas tank to prevent the breakdown of ethanol and other deposits from ruining your engine. Be sure to run the engine after adding the stabilizer to the fuel tank to ensure that it reaches fuel system components in the engine.

3. Keep the fuel tank full. Storing your boat with a full tank of fuel, particularly if ethanol fuel is used, will help minimize condensation that may occur within the fuel tank.

4. Fog the engine cylinders and carburetor intakes to help slow corrosion. The use of spray fogging oil will help protect internal engine components from corrosion. Spray fogging oil into the air intake while the engine runs, then disconnect the fuel line. Continue to spray into the air intake until the engine dies. Evinrude E-TEC engine's auto-winterization feature streamlines steps one and four by flushing out the engine and fogging itself for a few minutes. After the engine has completed fogging, it will shut off and your engine will be ready for storage.

5. Change the oil in four-stroke engines. Changing the oil will remove moisture and harmful acids that have collected within the oil. These acids and contaminants could cause corrosion of internal engine components.

6. Drain and replace gear case lubricant. Milky colored gear lubricant is a sign that water has entered the gear case. If left unchecked, the water within the gear case can freeze, causing the gear case to permanently fail.

7. Ensure that the battery is fully charged and disengaged. A fully charged battery is less susceptible to damage during cold storage. A fully charged battery's freezing point is around minus 95 degrees Fahrenheit, whereas a partially-charged battery could freeze in temperatures as high as 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

You should always consult your owner's manual for specific winterization techniques, but following these quick, easy, and relatively low-cost steps will protect your outboard engine and save you expensive maintenance costs next season.

AAA STATE - COUNTY CITYWIDE INSURANCE CLAIMS WELCOME!

A Clean Car Is Money In The Bank

(NAPS)—Purchasing a new car is a major financial investment. Keeping it clean can be an easy and inexpensive way to protect its resale and trade-in value.

"Many motorists procrastinate when it comes to cleaning their vehicles," said Rich White, executive director of the nonprofit Car Care Council. "Whether you do it yourself or have it cleaned professionally, proactively keeping your car clean on the outside and tidy on the inside will pay big dividends when it comes to maintaining your vehicle's value over time."

The Car Care Council suggests five simple steps to keep a vehicle clean, helping protect it from the elements and preserve its value.

• Declutter—Start the cleaning process by removing excess clutter from inside the car as it can be distracting and hazardous, especially when debris finds its way near the gas and brake pedals. Don't forget to clear out items that have accumulated in the trunk as they can add extra weight and reduce fuel efficiency.

• Clean the Interior—The next step is to thoroughly clean the interior, wash the windows, and clean and install floor mats. Be sure to vacuum on a regular basis.

A clean and orderly interior lets you spot issues in the cabin so you can get them repaired before they get worse.

• Wash the Exterior—Give your car a good wash from top to bottom using products specifically made for automobiles.

Always clean the tires and wheels before washing the body and don't use the same washing mitt or cloth for both.

• Wax Twice a Year—Waxing not only protects a vehicle's finish, it makes subsequent washing easier. Before proceeding, make sure there are no foreign particles on the paint. It's important to note that waxing should be done in the shade, not direct sunlight.

• Fix Chips—If you find minor paint damage, cover the paint chips as quickly as possible to prevent further damage. For a quick fix until you can get paint touch-up supplies, dab a little clear nail polish on the scratch.

The Car Care Council is the source of information for the "Be Car Care Aware" consumer education campaign promoting the benefits of regular vehicle care, maintenance and repair to consumers.

To order a free copy of the popular "Car Care Guide," visit the council's consumer education website, www.carcare.org.
